Empowering international students with EducationUSA Kazakhstan

Project Title	Empowering international students with EducationUSA Kazakhstan
Project Summary	Assist Kazakhstani students seeking undergraduate degree in the U.S. universities in developing their English writing and comprehension, essay and college application skills through a series of webinars, consultations and individual assignments review.
Country	Kazakhstan

Project Description

EducationUSA Kazakhstan team is looking for four virtual interns interested to know more about Kazakhstan, practice peer-to-peer advising, develop cross-cultural communication, presentation, college essay writing and reviewing skills.

As an intern for an undergraduate cohort (Competitive College Club), you will be expected to co-mentor 20-30 Kazakhstani high school students and conduct a webinar once per month about studying in the U.S. The theme of the webinars include, but is not limited to: choosing universities to apply to, choosing a college major, constructing and editing the common application essay, mastering the college interview, etc. In addition, the interns will be responsible for reviewing the club students' s essays and have a virtual meeting with each student on explaining the given feedback if needed.

Moreover, the interns will facilitate book/article/video discussions once per month for Pre-CCC club students.

The intern should be a student interested in international relations, with strong English grammar and essay writing skills. The intern should also be excited about getting to know international students and have a positive and motivating personality. In sum, we value the following skills:

- -Interpersonal and leadership skills
- -Proficiency in English grammar
- -Superior essay writing and editing skills
- -Knowledge of the U.S. college application process
- -Positive attitude and willingness to help others

EducationUSA Kazakhstan values your input and is open to your ideas.
